Adena Friedman, EDAW, Facilitator
- Note: At the last meeting, there were a variety of opinions represented. Two land use directions seemed to have support from many people in the audience. One option was to keep land uses as they currently are and the other was to allow some focused development using tools such as clustering and transfer of development rights. The consultant will be presenting a set of policies, with illustrations showing how the policies might work, that could be used to guide a recommended planning process for Middle Green Valley.
- The goal of this discussion is to discern whether these policies are appropriate guidance for an option that allows some focused development through the preparation of a plan after adoption of the General Plan.
